Maintenance Free GAS Fireplaces

We would all love to have maintenance free appliances. However, the reality is when an appliance burns gas (or any fuel) it needs periodic servicing.

Many times, when Quality Fireplace Solutions has certified a gas fireplace for a closing, the present homeowners tell me they never knew a gas fireplace needed servicing. The typical response I get is "wow that burns beautifully, I should have had this serviced years ago".

The gas fireplaces we find in the living areas of our homes, have the same gas pressure as your gas furnace and water heater. The difference between the typical gas appliance and a gas fireplace is the gas fireplace lives with us, and if installed in a bedroom, sleeps with us. If these gas fireplaces are not maintained there is a likely chance that oxygen in the home is being contaminated with the gas fireplace exhaust of Carbon Monoxide and other dangerous off-gases which can endanger your health without you realizing the adverse affect.

Annual service for your gas fireplace is highly recommended to ensure your safety.
